Lingering, Channeling & Pooling Odor With Gail McCarthy, CNWI, NACSW Judge and CO Sunday, November 1, 2020

Ignoring lingering odor, only finding the source of odor or working through channeling odor are just a few of the challenges your dog faces in trials and competitions. Overcoming these challenges is a learned skill.

Dogs are born smelling, following scent and using their noses like we humans are born seeing color. Following scent does not need to be taught to our dogs – it comes naturally. Teaching your dog to TELL you that they have “made the find” is a huge scent continuum. It is often a grey area and they simply do not know what you want them to find.

Attend this 2 hour seminar with Gail McCarthy and she will introduce you and your dog to the odor complexities while you learn training tools and set ups that will help and educate your dog to work through lingering, channeling and pooling odor and go straight to source!

Past Seminar Attendee Testimonials

“Gail clearly loves what she does and it shows in her instruction and the general and individual knowledge and observations she shares – all with humor.”

– Donna C, owner of a Golden Retriever

“I audited the seminar (attended without a dog) but learned SO much!” – Beth L.

“The facility was tidy, organized and spacious. Gail did a wonderful job giving us the pearls and pitfalls of the elements. She is a fabulous trainer!” – Lisa L., owner of an English Cocker Spaniel
